OPENING SALUTATIONS

Kabiyesi o!
Your Excellencies,
My Brother Royal Fathers, Obas from the six great Imesis,
Our Illustrious Sons and Daughters at home and in the diaspora,
Distinguished Guests, Chiefs, Elders, Women, Youth, and Friends of Imesi-I greet you all in the name of peace, progress,
and tradition.

A FESTIVAL OF UNITY AND HISTORY

Today, history smiles upon us once again.
This year's Odun Ade Festival is not an ordinary celebration — it is a festival of unity, reconciliation, and rediscovery.

Once again, all the six Imesis, bound by shared ancestry but separated by the Yoruba wars of old, have come together as one united family.
Our gathering today is proof that though history may divide, destiny unites. The Imesi Ojugbaye body wishes to appeal that henceforth, our words and actions MUST place emphasis on our shared ancestry and progenitor rather than the divisive history of seniority.

I salute my royal brothers, the esteemed Obas of the Six Imesis, whose presence here gladdens our hearts and reaffirms the eternal bond of kinship among our peoples.
(Names and titles of other Imesi Obas should be inserted here by Kayegbo)

REVIVAL OF ANCIENT TRADITIONS

This year's Odun Ade is doubly blessed for it marks the resuscitation of our age-long Imesi fishing expedition, the Idewo, and the reactivation of the Ijigbo hunters' expedition both once-proud pillars of our heritage.

Through Idewo, our fishermen and women reconnect with the waters that have sustained generations.
Through Ijigbo, our brave hunters renew their age-old covenant with the forest, returning with their game for the Onimesi to feast upon and mark the festival's sacred rites.

These acts are not mere ceremonies; they are living testimonies of unity, authority, and acceptance signs that the bond between the throne and the people remains strong and unbroken.

It is my hope that these revivals will, in the years ahead, grow into full-fledged tourism attractions bringing visitors, researchers, and admirers of Yoruba culture to Imesi, and turning our town into a beacon of cultural pride and economic opportunity.

APPRECIATION AND ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I extend deep gratitude to all Imesi sons and daughters those dwelling within our land and those far away in the diaspora for your enduring love, loyalty, and contributions to our growth.

To our non-resident natives and friends of Imesi, your goodwill strengthens our resolve and expands our vision. May your kindness never go unrewarded.

To our chiefs, traditional leaders, artisans, farmers, hunters, women, and youth, you are the heartbeat of this kingdom. Your daily labour and faith uphold the dignity of the crown.

A Call to Continued Progress

As we celebrate, let us remember that tradition and progress are not enemies. Let us continue to uphold the honour of our ancestors while embracing innovation and development for the good of Imesi.

Our collective duty is to build a future worthy of our heritage a future of peace, unity, and prosperity for generations yet unborn.

CLOSING BENEDICTION

As the drums sound and the hunters' horns echo, as the waters of Idewo shimmer with life, and as our people dance in joy and pride, I pray that Imesi shall continue to flourish.

May the blessings of Odun Ade bring abundance to every household. May unity prevail among our people. May the crown of Imesi never lose its glory.

Long live the Onimesi of Imesi Ekiti!
Long live the United Imesis!
Long live Ekiti State!
Long live the Federal Republic of Nigeria

THE IWARAFAS

His Royal Majesty Oba Festus Olatunji Olatunde Olaibiyemi II the Onimesi of Imesi Ekiti is ably assisted by the Iwarafas who as Kingmakers occupy the highest decision making body that supports Kabiyesi in his day to day administration of Imesi Ekiti.

The Kingmakers are drawn from the six major Quarters that constitute Imesi Ekiti and are as follows:

1. Ijumu Quarters headed by the Kolaye.
2. Ilogbo Quarters headed by the Balogbo.
3. Idogun Quarters headed by the Odofin Idogun.
4. Oke- Ode Quarters headed by the Emila.
5. Isigun Quarters headed by Onisugun.
6. Idosere Quarters headed by the Ofoji.

1. IJUMU QUARTERS.

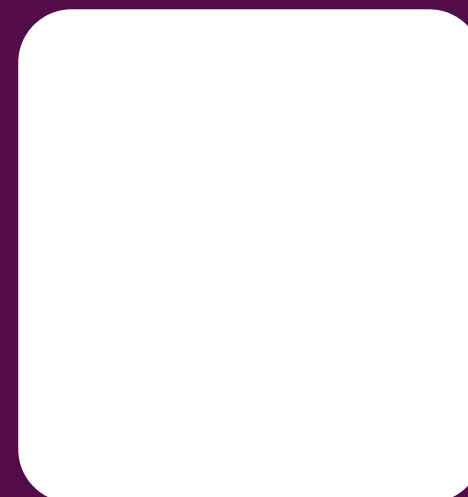

High Chief Emmanuel Rotimi Alonge is the Head of Ijumu Quarters as the Kolaye of Imesi Ekiti. He is traditionally the second in rank to HRM Oba Festus Olatunji Olatunde Olaibiyemi II and is considered as first amongst equals among the Iwarafas. He worked all his life in the private sector where he served meritoriously before his installation as the Kolaye of Imesi Ekiti, a position he has used to advance the course of progress and development of Imesi Ekiti. High Chief Emmanuel Rotimi Alonge is married with children.

2. ILOGBO QUARTERS

High Chief.....is the Head of Ilogbo Quarters. Ilogbo Quarters under his leadership has contributed immensely to the progress of Imesi Ekiti. High Chief.....is married with children.

3. IDOGUN QUARTERS

High Chief Lawrence Ojo is the Odofin Idogun and head of Idogun Quarters. An illustrious son of Imesi Ekiti who has been instrumental in the development of Idogun Quarters and Imesi Ekiti. His commitments to the Imesi Ekiti agenda is unwavering and highly commendable. As an administrator of repute his influence in engendering the enhancement of the lives of sons and daughters of Imesi Ekiti cannot be over emphasized. He is married with children.

4. OKE-ODE QUARTERS

Oke-Ode Quarters is headed by High Chief Solomon Babatunde Adegite, the Emila of Imesi Ekiti. He is an astute administrator who has played critical roles in the efforts aimed at sustaining the greatness of Imesi Ekiti in the course of history. His contributions to the smooth administration of Imesi Ekiti particularly his knowledge of her history and the use of the same to shape the present state and the future of the community is commendable. High Chief Solomon Babatunde Adegite is blessed with many children who along with other members of Oke-Ode Quarters are contributing in no small measure to the progress and development of Imesi Ekiti under his leadership.

5. ISIGUN QUARTERS.

High Chief Nathaniel Dahunsi is the Head of Isigun Quarters as the Onisugun of Isigun Quarters. He is an astute administrator, auditor of great repute and a public servant who served the government meritoriously before his installation and has continued to render services to a wide range of agencies and particularly Imesi Ekiti. Under his leadership, Isigun Quarters has experienced tremendous growth which has impacted positively on the growth and development of Imesi Ekiti. Mention must be made of his efforts in shaping the lives of individuals in the community for positive purposes. High Chief Nathaniel Dahunsi exemplifies the epitome of commitment and integrity in matters relating to Imesi Ekiti. He is married with children.

6. IDOSERE QUARTERS.

High Chief Bamidele Abiodun Falana, the Ofoji of Imesi Ekiti is the Head of Idosere Quarters. He is a Legal Practitioner who has contributed immensely to the progress of Imesi Ekiti. Idosere Quarters has always played pivotal and critical roles in the history and traditions of Imesi Ekiti. This critical role has been sustained under his leadership. Along with the people of Idosere Quarters, he has ensured that they contribute to the progress and development of Imesi Ekiti as and when necessary. He is married with children.

The Iwarafas as a body have, with cohesion and common purpose played important roles in assisting HRM Oba Festus Olatunji Olatunde Olaibiyemi II and continue to assist Kabiyesi in his quest for an Imesi Ekiti that will regain and is already regaining her prime position among the foremost communities in Ekiti State, Yorubaland in particular and in Nigeria .

CONGRATULATORY MESSAGE BY THE OGBEKUNRIN/AJABARI RULING HOUSE OF IMESI EKITI

The Ogbekunrin Ajabari Ruling Family rejoices with His Royal Majesty Oba Festus Olatunji Olatunde, Olaibiyemi II, the Onimesi of Imesi Ekiti, on the celebration of the 2025 Odun Ade Festival of Unity and Culture.

We joyfully mark our re-absorption as the third ruling house of Imesi Ekiti after nearly a century of unjust exclusion.

Kabiyesi's relentless pursuit of truth and justice has restored equity and honour to our royal heritage.

May the reign of Olaibiyemi II continue to bring unity, progress, and divine blessings to all Omo Owa Imesi.

Kabiyesi
Oba Ilori-Faboro, Ajiboyede III, The Olojudo of Iddo-Ekiti and immediate past Chairman of the Ekiti State Council of Traditional Rulers, heartily rejoice with Your Majesty, the good people of Imesi-Ekiti, and the entire Onimesi Traditional Council on the auspicious celebration of Odun Ade Festival 2025.

Odun Ade remains one of the most treasured expressions of our royal heritage—an occasion that honours the crown, celebrates continuity, and reaffirms the sacred bond between the throne and the people. Your Majesty has, in your reign, elevated the dignity of this festival through your unwavering commitment to peace, community development, cultural revival, and service to the Ekiti traditional institution.

As a brother Oba and an active, vibrant member of the Ekiti State Council of Traditional Rulers, your leadership, clarity of purpose, and dedication to the progress of your domain continue to inspire many of us within the traditional institution. The remarkable strides recorded in Imesi-Ekiti under your watch—especially in infrastructure, unity, and community mobilisation—serve as a shining example of purposeful kingship.

On this joyous occasion, I pray that Olodumare will continue to strengthen Your Majesty with wisdom, sound health, and divine protection. May the crown you wear with honour and humility continue to radiate blessings, prosperity, and enduring peace upon Imesi-Ekiti.

Long may you reign, Kabiyesi
